	The students have improved their knowledge of German grammar and their writing skills. They have the ability to understand short written pieces of German, e.g. newspaper articles taken from tabloids or magazines which are not too difficult in terms of writing style. Furthermore, they are capable of writing short letters or mails. They are enabled to discuss certain topics deriving from their special field of interest or private life, e.g. family and leisure time activities. A basic communication with native speakers is possible as long as those use standard German and are willing to help during the communication process.
